BRUCE JOHNSON

Bruce confesses he was dragged to his first square dance. He called his first dance in 1947 and started dancing a year before.

Bruce commenced an active program in 1949 while attending the University of California. His groups vary from five to 60 squares. He is busily engaged in calling at square dance jamborees, institutes, clinics and festivals throughout the United States and Canada.

Bruce cut his first record in 1951 and since has reached the quarter of a million mark in 1956. His first recording was "Craw Dad Song." A few of his others are "My Pretty Girl," "Alabama Jubilee," "Hello."
